Parter 1

Longjie: The lesson I learned from the partnership is we can work and discuss together for this project with more thoughts generated. It is also helpful in fixing bugs more quickly than did individually.

Haolou: I learned that we should read the spec more thoroughly in order to solve each other's problem not just focusing on our own ones. For the static evaluation part, when the more same color checkers on the same bar, the higher the static eval will be; the closer the checkers are to the final goal, the higher the static eval will be.
